

You're Invited!

Opening Celebration for NatureMaker January 22

Where nature inspires sustainable innovation.

NatureMaker Open House

Wednesday, January 22

4-8 p.m.

The Biomimicry Center
Design South, Rm 126

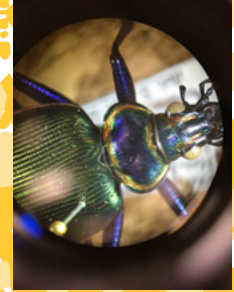

Arizona State University
810 S. Forest Ave.
Tempe, AZ 85287-1605

Light refreshments served.

Please join us on January 22 for the opening of NatureMaker, a unique collaboration between the Biomimicry Center and the ASU Library.

NatureMaker is an active learning library where hands-on explorations of natural history artifacts inspire sustainable innovation. Come join us for a fun night of interactive activities that reveal the back stories of nature's genius in our amazing new collection. Discover how cactus spines can inspire new water systems, how sea sponges can lead to innovations in porous ceramics or how shark skin has been used as a model for new antimicrobial surfaces.

The opening festivities for NatureMaker continue on Thursday, January 23, with a lecture by biologists Neal Overstrom and Jennifer Bissonnette, leaders of the Nature Lab at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Don't Miss

Biomimicry Lecture

From Biology to Design: How nature has inspired sustainable innovation at the Rhode Island School of Design

Thursday, January 23, 6 p.m.

Design North, Room 60
Arizona State University
810 S. Forest Ave
Tempe, AZ 85287-1605

